The Customers You Want

The demographics of our readers are a reflection of the region. They are typically between 35 and 65 years old with a medium to high income.

More than 75% are locals who are keen to learn more about local businesses, events and restaurants.

They live an active lifestyle, and have the money to pay for it

They are likely to own their home, yet they keep monitoring the real estate market to make sure they don't miss out on market developments and to take up current trends in design and decorating.

Soon-to-be locals are another key group in our readership. These readers are actively looking to re-locate to the region. Be sure to introduce your business to them as they are beginning their journey into everything the Hunter and Coastal region has to offer.

Last but not least, some of our readers are dreaming the dream of a regional or rural lifestyle. They are not ready yet to make their dreams a reality, but they are keen to regularly get a taste of what it might one day be all about.
